Fork orders have helped to keep Baltimore and Ohio stock up. It sold yesterday at 113. The loss of the Baltimore and Ohio dividend this year has created a very strong seeling here. The Hambletons, who have stood very close to the Garretts, and who have furnished trustworthy, important information about the various deals, say this formation about the various deals, say this to-day:

"When the financial management of the Haitimore and Ohio Company was handed over to the Drexel-Morgan syndicate it was admitted that a large floating debt then existed, but to what amount has never been officially stated. It was supposed, however, that the sale of the express and telegraph would yield an amount which would go far toward liquidating the pressing debt of the company. These assets have been realized on, and yet we still hear of the $10,000,000 (5,000,000 bonds and $5,000,000 preferred stock) which the syndicate is expected to negotiate for the benefit of the company. If the Drexel-Morgan syndicate and the managers of the Baltimore and Ohio Company desire to restore confidence, they must make a full statement of the affairs of the company and that speedily. It is best to know the worst and not to leave to conjecture the condition of the finances of the company which, in the absence of information, may be considered in a worse condition than they really are. It is generally conceded that, as the inducement to pay a dividend was so great, the determination to pass it must have been due to serious causes and the stockholders are anxiously considering why no dividend is forthcoming and how long it may be before the payment of dividends can be resumed.

"Without further assurance than the fact that the Drexel-Morgan syndicate is the test that the Drexel-Morgan syndicate is the test that the present the content is the test to the present the content of dividends can be resumed.

may be before the payment of dividends can be resumed.

"Without further assurance than the fact that the Drexel-Morgan syndicate is willing to guarantee the negotiation of $5,000,000 general mortgage bonds and $5,000,000 pre-terred stock, it is sufficient evidence that all of the direct indorsed and guaranteed bonds of the Baltimore and Ohio Company are unquestionably sound in principal and interest, but some fears are entertained as to what may be the result to such unindorsed socurities which have depended upon the Baltimore and Ohio to advance the necessary funds to pay interest where it has not been earned, or where the corporations are indebted to the Baltimore and Ohio for money advanced. For this reason there was some disposition to sell Cincinnati, Washington and Baltimore junior mortgage and income bonds."

NOVA SCOTIA'S AMBITION.

She May Build a Reel Yacht to Compete for the America's Cup.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.) HALIPAX, N. S., Oct. 14.-There is a new move in yachting circles here. A letter has been received from John Harvey, the great yacht-designer of New York, in which he offers to design and superintend the construction of a yacht which he believes can beat the Volunteer or any new Volunteer.

He still has faith in the keel-boats as against centre-boards for the yachts of the future, and attributes the defeat of the future, and attributes the defeat of the Thistle, which, before he saw her bottom, he believed would win, to the fact that she was cut up too much forward.

"It was thought here," he said, "that the only way to win the America's Cup was to fight the defenders with their own weapon, a centre-board. The Englishmen have to construct vessels which will stand a great voyage, but, being on this side of the Atlantic, we could compete with greater advantage by trying with a boat more the style of the American yacht."

As Charles Sweet seems to have arranged matters so that he will have the next try for the trophy, a move is now on foot whereby a first-class racing-yacht will be built to represent Nova Scotis, which will be entered in all possible contests in the United States, and one which, if she proves what is expected of her, will eventually be the challenger for the cup. In a day or two something definite will be decided upon.
